Protect Your Information When You Use Public Wi-Fi

Don't access your personal or financial information.

Always assume a public Wi-Fi network isn't secure.

Change your device's settings so it doesn't automatically connect to nearby Wi-Fi.

That way, you have more control over when and how you use public Wi-Fi.

Don't stay permanently signed in to accounts.

When you've finished using an account, log out.

Log in or send personal information only to websites you know are fully encrypted.

To be secure, your entire visit to each site should be encrypted (meaning that the URL starts with https).

Pay attention to warnings.

Many web browsers alert you before you visit a scammy website or download malicious programs. Don't ignore those warnings. Also keep your browser and security software up to date.
